Acep quiet; let your officers do their bust, and if you can not find a way to all them, do not retard their progress. Resolutions do not prevent fand stealing, slock wafering or gambiling in the necessaries of life. If I had my mind made up to rob a bank at midnight a string of resolutions as long as the moral law profesting against my contempisated action would not influence me a particle, but if some interested party would task the trouble to study up the questions and would inform himself as to my right to rob the hank, and would stand guard at the foor of the vault, I would not rob it at midnight if he did his duty. What we want from every member is not guish of windy resolutions about our rights. We know we have rights without passing resolutions. Men who think, study and act are required.
